Dear Patient,

I am sharing some important news about our Public Health medical clinic that is co-located at Navos Mental Health and Wellness Center in Burien.

In September 2023, Public Health will stop providing services at the medical clinic co-located at Navos Mental Health and Wellness. You will need to establish with another provider for your primary health care needs. I am sorry to have to deliver this news. For over a decade our team has been privileged to serve the community at Navos by building relationships with patients like you. We are honored that you have trusted us with your primary health care, and we will deeply miss this community.

The Public Health primary care team will continue serving patients through the beginning of September and can help you transition smoothly to your next primary care provider.

We know how important it is to have a medical provider that you can trust. You have a choice in where you receive healthcare. We want to help you understand and navigate through your options. Over the next several months, the Public Health team at Navos will be available to you to help you find the best medical home to meet your needs. We will ensure that our medical records are transferred with care.

Your health is important to us. If you are overdue for a check-up or will need medication refills, please make a plan to be seen by a medical provider. You can schedule to be seen in our office before September, or you can establish care with a new primary care office.

It's been a tremendous experience serving the Navos community. We are working with trusted healthcare agencies to do everything we can to help you confidently continue your journey towards good health. With this letter you will also find a list of trusted clinics near our Navos location that may be a good fit for you. There is also a flyer ("Looking for Good Health Care?") with contact information for community medical clinics throughout all of King County. For questions about how to connect with a future provider or to transfer your health records, please call Public Health at 206-257-6870.

Sincerely,

The Navos Public Health Care Team
